

Healthy eating tips to lower type 2 risk

Healthy eating tips to lower type 2 risk

Healthy eating tips for prediabetes and lowering type 2 risk | Diabetes UK

Skip to main navigation Skip to content

Save for later Page saved! You can go back to this later in your Diabetes and Me Close

Healthy eating tips for prediabetes and lowering type 2 risk

What's on this page? How to use our guide Choose drinks without added sugar Choose higher fibre carbs Cut down on red and processed meat Eat plenty of fruit and veg Choose unsweetened yoghurt, and cheese Choose healthier snacks Pick healthier oils or fats Cut down on salt Get your vitamins and minerals from food instead of tablets Be sensible with alcohol How to use our guide There is no food you can't eat if you want to prevent type 2 diabetes or help you manage prediabetes. It is a question of choosing healthier foods more often. On this page, we'll share which foods and drinks can help lower your risk of type 2 diabetes, and which foods or drinks to limit that can increase your risk of type 2 diabetes. Pick one or two tips to focus on to help you start making long-term changes and if needed, help manage your weight. A healthy diet is only part of the story. Your portion sizes are important too. If you want a copy of this information to print off or share with family or friends, download this healthy eating guide as a two-page PDF (655KB). These are our top 10 healthy eating tips for prediabetes and lowering your risk of type 2 diabetes. 1. Choose drinks without added sugar Swap sugary drinks such as cola or lemonade for diet or no added sugar versions. Check the can or bottle's nutrition label for added sugar. Even better, drink water - plain still or carbonated. Try tea or coffee without sugar, or try it with a low or no-calorie sweetener. If you have milk, choose semi-skimmed or skimmed which have the same vitamins, minerals, calcium and protein as full fat. If you prefer dairy-free alternatives like plant-based milks, such as oat or almond, check they are unsweetened. Try to avoid or limit fruit juices or smoothies to one small glass (150ml) a day as they contain the type of sugar we need to cut down on. Eat natural vegetables or fruit instead to get your 5-a-day. If Matcha

Foods that raise your blood sugar levels more slowly See our tips and information about the glycaemic index. Find out more Weight loss for prediabetes and lowering type 2 risk See our tips and browse our meal plans. Find out more Best exercise for prediabetes and lowering type 2 risk See our tips for being more physically active at home or when you're out. Find out more

Content last reviewed 27 January 2026 Next review due 26 January 2029

Save for later Page saved! You can go back to this later in your Diabetes and Me Close

Share this Page

© The British Diabetic Association operating as Diabetes UK, a charity registered in England and Wales (no. 215199) and in Scotland (no. SC039136). A company limited by guarantee registered in England and Wales with (no.00339181) and registered office at Wells Lawrence House, 126 Back Church Lane London E1 1FH

Back to Top

Brand Icons/Telephone check - FontAwesome    “ “
Header icons/tick icons/uk